“Le Carré continues to be the world’s most reliable witness to the vicissitudes of international paranoia.”

—The New York Review of Books

“Le Carré is still the grand master of the modern literary thriller.” —Time (Canada)

JOHN LE CARRÉ A Most Wanted Man

Tommy Brue has inherited a doomed private British bank based in Hamburg. Alone in his office one night, he receives a phone call from a young female lawyer he has never heard of, demanding an immediate face-to-face meeting. Her name is Annabel Richter, her client the mysterious Issa, an illegal immigrant who happens to possess a key to one of the most exclusive vaults in Brue’s bank. He is also wanted by three of the world’s most powerful intelligence agencies. Alive as he has never been before, Brue finds himself drawn into an unlikely alliance with this passionate young woman and the man she is willing to risk her life to save.

Our Kind of Traitor

Two young lovers treat themselves to a once-in-a-lifetime holiday on the Caribbean island of Antigua. He’s an austere tutor at Oxford. She’s a sparky, rising London barrister. Their native Britain is floundering in debt. On the second day of their holiday, they encounter a rich, charismatic, fifty-something Russian millionaire called Dima, who owns a peninsula, wears a diamond-encrusted Rolex watch, has a tattoo on the knuckle of his right thumb, and wants a game of tennis.

What else Dima wants is the engine that drives John le Carré’s majestic, thrilling, tragic, funny, and utterly engrossing novel of greed and corruption from the arctic hells of the gulag archipelago, to a billionaire’s yacht anchored off the Adriatic coast, to the men’s final of the French Open tennis championships at the Roland Garros stadium, to two murky Swiss bankers dubbed Peter and the Wolf, and finally and fatally to a Swiss alpine resort nestling in the shadow of the north face of the Eiger and the story’s terrifying end.
